Pres. Franklin Delano Roosevelt is still champ. His opponent in yesterday's presidential election, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, conceded the fourth-term victory to President Roosevelt early this morning.

According to incomplete returns, it is probable that Ohio's next governor will be Democratic Frank Lausche. Lausche, mayor of Cleveland, fought the "battle of the mayors" with Cincinnati's GOP James G. Stewart.

Although tabulation of the votes is incomplete, FDR and his running mate, Harry Truman, have captured the electoral votes of 34 states, a total of 407. Only 266 electoral votes are needed to win. The Dewey-Bricker team is the winner in 14 states and has 124 votes to its credit.

By popular vote, however, the balloting is much closer. Roosevelt is leading Dewey by slightly more than 2,000,000 votes. In 1940, when he was running for a third term, he won from GOP Wendell Wilkie by 5,000,000 popular votes.

The Democrats have also won a majority of seats in the Senate and strengthened their majority in the House of Representatives.

A record number of votes were cast in this third wartime presidential election in United States' history. In both other instances, 1812 when Madison was president, and 1865 when Lincoln was in office, the Commander in Chief was re-elected.

Dewey, saying that the outcome evidently was the will of the people, telegraphed his congratulations to Roosevelt, who will begin his fourth term in January. The New York governor said, "The people of the United States pray that God will protect and guide the president."

Ohio Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft has the lead over his opponent. Taft was one of several senators branded as isolationist by Truman, vice-presidential winner over Ohio's Gov. John W. Bricker.

In other prominent senatorial contests, Ham Fish, who has been in the Senate 24 years, lost in Roosevelt's home district in New York State. Winners are Clare Booth Luce, Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Majority Leader Alvin Barkley.

NO. 2

1093 Civilians Are Registered

Enrollment figures have hit an unexpected high of 1098 civilian students, Dean Harshman, acting registrar, announced today. This brings the total enrollment to 35 per cent above what was anticipated by the registrar's office before the start of the term. V-12 trainees number approximately 250. Extension and graduate students number 38.

In September, 1943, the total enrollment, including civilian and service students, was 1325. The 1942 fall enrollment, when there were no service men on campus, was 1242.

This present total of 1098 civilian students for this semester has not yet been broken down into class totals. These figures will be announced later.

What's New

GET OUT THE VOTE . . .

Urged labor leaders, candidates, and women's clubs. So out the voters got to poll an unprecedented number of ballots.

SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

Is that FDR, no matter what the outcome of the election, will meet soon with Churchill and Stalin somewhere in Europe, perhaps in the Balkans.

STALEMATE . . .

EASTWARD, HO! . . .

General Eisenhower moves his headquarters from London to Paris. Next stop Berlin?

BATTLE IN BUDAPEST . . .

YES, ANOTHER STRIKE . . .

B-29'S OUT SIGHTSEEING . . .

For the second time in a week Japanese reports say that American Superfortresses have been seen over the home islands. The first report, late last week, said that the big B-29's were on reconnaissance over Tokyo, itself, the first time U.S. planes have been over the Jap capital since the famous Doolittle bombing raid. Yesterday a Superfort flew over the industrial Kyoto for an hour with no anti-aircraft opposition. Guess we caught the Japs with their planes down.

Miss Maribeth Kitt Gives Initial Recital Tonight

Miss Maribeth Kitt, new instructor in the music department, will present a violin recital today at 8 p.m. in the Practical Arts Building. Miss Myrtle Jensen will accompany her. Miss Kitt's selections are:

Staff Sends News Anywhere to G.I.'s

"If former students in the service can't come to Bowling Green, we'll send Bowling Green to them."

Bee Gee News executives used this as their motto in working out a plan whereby copies of the paper can be sent to servicemen (or civilians) anywhere in the world for $1.00 each term.

"The 16 issues of the paper which will be printed from the beginning of school until the end of the term in February will be mailed by circulation staff members to anyone ordering a subscription," John Barber, business manager, said today.

Many University G.I.'s overseas who received the News last year have written that they like the way it helps them keep in touch with Bowling Green and the students here.

"Send a year's subscription of the News to civilian alumni or to men in service for an ideal Christmas gift," Barber suggests.

Violinist

Miss Maribeth Kitt, violinist, will present a recital tonight at 8 p.m. She is a new instructor in the music department.

South American Coed Spends Two Months Coming To B.G.

Do you complain because of crowded traveling conditions encountered on your way to Bowling Green this year and because it took you an hour or two longer than you had planned?

Stop complaining. Think of one University student, Catalina Spinetta, who spent two whole months getting here.

It's a long way from her home in Valparaiso, Chile, rather far "south of the border." This dark-eyed Chilean left her home early in September, came by boat to Mexico, and traveled on to Ohio by bus.

Catalina wants to be called "Kay" while she is in the United States and going to college here. "Kay is a beautiful name," she says.

A teacher for two years in her native Valparaiso, the elongated Chile's largest port, Kay attended the Santa Theresa normal school

Dean's List Will Appear

Bowling Green's Dean's List, giving names of those students exempted from attendance regulations, will not appear until next week because policies regarding the trimester schedule as yet are undecided, Arch B. Conklin, Dean of Students, said today.

Students must have at least a 3.0 average to qualify for the list. These attendance privileges may be taken away from students if they abuse them. The difficulty has been in determining what effect will be made by the summer work, which formerly was not considered.

Certain students, who made either lower or higher records this summer, would be dropped or added to the list if summer work were to count. There would also need to be some policy in respect to either the eight or 16 week courses.

Freshmen who attended the University only the summer period would be entirely eliminated, however, if this work did not count at least for them.

An administration meeting, to be held this week, will consider the problem, Dean Conklin said.

'Boy Meets Girl' Tryouts Are Larger Than Usual

Because so many tried out Monday for parts in "Boy Meets Girl," first production of the University Theatre, Director Elden T. Smith has not completed his selection of a cast. "Seventy-six read parts Monday," Professor Smith said, "and I expect some more students at second try-outs tonight at 7 p.m."

"Boy Meets Girl" is a light comedy centered around life in Hollywood. Eleven men and four women are in the cast. Any University student, civilian or V-12, is eligible.

20 Upperclassmen Will Debate Here

Twenty upperclass men and women are candidates for this year's intercollegiate debate group, Dr. Wayne N. Thompson, faculty for-ensic director, said today.

The first meeting for freshmen, today at 4 p.m. in 106 Administration Building, is expected to swell the total, he said.

Upperclassmen who are newcomers are Patricia Mell, Patricia Cloos, Janice Smith, Jean Lull, Helen Bowen, and Dorothy Main.

Dr. Thompson said that this year's debate program will be a continuation of last year's in which 18 students represented the University in 143 intercollegiate debates, and nine additional took part in the intramural program.

BOWLING GREEN, OHIO

Speak For Yourself . . .

When a University professor at Bowling Green, or anywhere else in America, makes a statement which is differed with by the majority of his audience, he is exercising his right as a citizen of the United States.

By being American citizens we are entitled to certain rights and privileges, guaranteed by the Bill of Rights and upheld by generations of freedom-loving people. These inherent rights include freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of assembly. It is to keep these privileges part of the American tradition and way of life that our soldiers are fighting and dying.

It is evident in the present day that the United States is one of few countries in the world where people may still enjoy these freedoms. In the enemy totalitarian nations these freedoms early were crushed by dictator rulers who realized that men's inability to speak their thoughts was favorable to the cause of the tyrant. Even in many Allied countries, the people are denied the freedoms of religion, speech, press, and assembly.

Therefore, the freedom—the rights and privileges of the people of the United States should shine as a beacon in darkness, lighting the way to a world where all men might be free—as we in America have been for centuries.

Since it is the American heritage to be able to speak one's ideas, no matter what they might be, every American should respect and honor this right. Every loyal citizen should realize his neighbor's inborn right to say what he wishes, when he wishes.

You need not agree with the opinion of your professor or roommate or the manner in which he expresses it, but you are duty bound to grant him the right to speak.

You may have the opposite opinion from another in a political question, for instance, but you must not condemn him because you do not believe the same thing.

Especially those of us in a University community, which should be the cradle of learning, of open-mindedness, and of tolerance, should listen to the ideas of everyone, weigh them carefully, and make up our own minds only after earnest thought and consideration.

Return Your Dishes? . . .

Labor shortages are as prevalent on University campuses as in industry. Several years ago, Bowling Green was able to hire a large staff of workers to keep things in order. Many students were part of this maintenance group.

During the present boom time, it is almost impossible to get even the most essential work done properly. Many of the little tasks must be left undone.

The Falcon's Nest, University Student Union, is one place where the labor shortage is critical. Because of this, students have been asked to cooperate by returning their empty coke bottles and glasses to the bar. This takes only a minute of time, and will help to speed up service in the Nest.

Be sure you can answer "yes" to the question, "Have you returned your dishes?"

No Bells . . .

Armistice Day, 1944, won't be much of a celebration. There won't be any cause to blow whistles and ring bells, for this would be hollow mockery. Only a few years ago we held November 11 in reverence for it was the anniversary of the ending of World War I, "the war to end wars." It was a day of prayer for lasting and just peace.

Today, however, we know that November 11, 1918, did not mark the end of a worldwide struggle but only the beginning of a short intermission until hostilities should start once more.

Today we also know that it is even harder to win a peace than to win a war. We, the youth of today, builders of the brave new world of tomorrow, must think and study and plan so that when our children celebrate the armistice of World War II they can look upon our accomplishments and see that we won for them not only battles between armies and navies but also a peace of which they can be proud.

COZY, ISN'T IT?

Navy War Bond Cartoon Service

"Most of my pay is allotted to War Bonds so we can't go OUT for entertainment."

Coeds' Aspiration College Cuffnotes

BY BOBBIE SIMPSON

To be "definitely bood" in the daytime, and still possess that midnight charm, is the aspiration of all Bowling Green campus cuties, and is one course that needs no bribing to incite midnight oil. From the first crack of dawn, as we drowsily turn over again to try to duck that darn alarm clock, 'til the final warning by the proctors at night, fem fantasies and fancies are foremost in mind.

And foremost in daytime apparel are, of course, the ever popular swing and sweater fashions, with classic short sleeved pullovers tops on the list. And so the "Surry with the Fringe on Top" won't have anything on us, the snappy-lassy is sprouting fringe, too, but on her neatly half pleated skirt with lap-over front, and—grandpa's horse blanket pin! This silver novice shouts "Hi" to its sterling companions on the wrists, and its new neighbors, those sharp monogrammed barrettes in the hair.

Also riding high on the waves of success this year are three piece suits for all occasions; the casual suit for chilly fall days, the dinner ensemble of skirt and over-bloss of bright contrast, and for evening, the skirt with beguiling "kitty fur" angora (unless you are a lucky gal with a gob in Navy blues).

With so much leisure time to spend lounging (ha, ha) bicycle pants are quite the thing. And to accompany these carefree casuals, how about a set of gayly colored Tyrolean suspenders with a matching felt weskit, and companion slipper-socks emporiered to the ankle?

With the University's sorority open house teas in the near future, the fashion minded Bowling Green miss will keep a watchful eye on the little sister styles of checked taffeta, or the prissy-missy apron dresses of black velvet with a demure apron of fluffy white organdy.

And perhaps for your furlough fling when you want that "special sparkle," you'll saunter forth in a sleek black satin dress with a low-cut neckline, set off by the renewed old fad, a gleaming jeweled dog collar. Or, if you prefer, a shimmery maze of sequined luster, crowned with a matching silver Juliet cap. But whichever you decide upon, it must have rich-looking Dolman sleeves or the captivating caps, just made for your shoulder high gloves.

Foot fashions, too, are new and exciting, for the closed toe, open heel pumps and the strap-happy specs are hitting the headlines in bold type.

Good nights are abundant when you are on parade in your red flannel P.J.'s, or a cleverly figured Tommie shirt for bed-time warmth. And to keep up with gramp, for whom we have borrowed sleepers; grandma has added her contribution—a daintily trimmed nightgown with matching nightcap to hide pin curls. And for complete comfort when snow and colds make their appearance, don't forget your bed-boots, designed strictly for cold-blooded gals. And so to girls both tall and thin, To girls both large and small, Make "fashion-right" your motto And be in style this fall.

The Sailors Say

Just Like a Woman

BY SID FREEMAN

INTRODUCTION . . .

Perhaps by way of introduction, it would be a good idea to let you know just exactly what this is going to be. But that's impossible, because this V-12 isn't sure at all what's going to come pouring out of this column every week. That makes this just like a woman. You won't get to know what it's really like until you've known it for a while.

WOMEN . . .

And aren't there a lot of women around though! After such a quiet summer, most of the fellows are quite impressed with the multitude of pulchritude. An ascending and descending whistle is the typical V-12's typical idea of the typical Bowling Green coed.

Of course, there are those who haven't quite gotten used to the situation. Take for example Bill Jensen, a second term, who says (and this is used with his permission):

It's going to be a tough winter. Yes, yes.

LEAVE . . .

They're talking about a lot of things at Kohl these days, but the stories about the ten-day leave are currently taking the upper hand. Bob Hutchinson, a second term from New York state, came back with a thick coat of Miami tan and a starry look in his eye. He'll tell you about his girl, now his fiancée, that he went to visit.

Kempton Jenkins went to see his parents in Oregon and claims that the five and a half days he spent on the train were worth it. Jack Horn, another native of Oregon, went to Chicago and took advantage of the Windy City's famous hospitality for servicemen.

But most of the fellows went to the old

GUEST . . .

They haven't yet gotten over talking about the unexpected guest that logged in at the Hall Halloween night. There have been some strange people at Kohl, but this was probably the first time that a goat has been stationed there. Bulkhead, that black and brown dog, that seems to have adopted the unit for its mascot, couldn't understand what the thing was. But one sniff was all you needed to identify the animal.

STRIPES . . .

Jack Bomar was the only sad person on the first deck (he must be unhappy the way he plays that trumpet of his) until last week when the men from Yale had to tear off their rating badges. They could wear them at Yale, but a Ninth Naval District order says that V-12 trainees can only wear the apprentice seaman stripes. The funeral march could be heard way over at the Nest.

WOMEN AGAIN . . .

There are a lot of good hearted fellows at the Hall, but without doubt the man with the biggest fatherly instinct is Dominic Spotto, the Casanova of the third deck. On the way back to Bowling Green on the train, Dom had a good time entertaining a little six-year-old boy. The two of them were really enjoying themselves playing airplane all the way from Chicago to South Bend.

As the trip progressed, however, Dom's interest shifted to three very attractive WAVES who were in the same car and by the time the train got to Toledo, all the little fellow rated from the Casanova was a small smile.

All of which should be very encouraging to the 900. You see, girls, at least you don't have to worry about competition from six-year-old boys.

All-Campus IM Begins Nov. 13

Intramural sports program will swing into action the week of November 13-18 on a civilian V-12 basis, according to plans expressed by Athletic Specialist 2/c Valle Diodis, acting intramural director.

A varied schedule, beginning with touch football and basketball, is open to all civilian organizations as well as the V-12 trainees. The call is out for officials and groups wishing to participate. They are asked to select a representative to the intramural council and forward his name and address to the athletic office in the Men's Gym.

Names should be in before November 11 in order that they may be contacted for the council meeting the following week, at which time schedules, rules and seasonal sports to be played will be discussed.

It is imperative that all who wish to officiate at such events also stop into the athletic office before the season gets under way.

Swimmers, Divers Try For Swan Club

Women students interested in joining Swan Club are invited to come to the Natatorium November 8, 9, 15, and 16 for try-outs. Swim periods are scheduled for November 6, 7, 13, and 14 from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. so that prospective members may practice.

Esther Davis is president of Swan Club. Advisers are Miss Gertrude Eppler, Miss Jane Shoemaker of the University faculty, and Miss Katherine Ruh, Bowling Green High School physical education director.

New Instructor

Miss Jane Shoemaker

Miss Shoemaker Is New Instructor

Something new has been added to the women's physical education faculty in the person of Miss Jane Shoemaker, the dancing specialist from Toledo.

Miss Shoemaker attended Toledo University, Michigan State University, and has been working on a master's degree at Northwestern.

Being a native Ohioan, she has done a great deal of Red Cross, YWCA, and USO work in Toledo and Michigan. Her experience in the USO was teaching the English flyers at Grosse Ile to dance.

Miss Shoemaker's special interest in physical education is in the dance, and she is planning to expand the interests and activities of the dance club this year. Her latest work has been under the tutelage of Elinor Loer, a student of the Martha Graham School, at Mills College in California.

Anderson Cites Possibilities Of 1944-45 Cage Team

"This year's basketball team has possibilities of being the best team that I have ever had," Coach Harold Anderson said today.

According to Andy, they have the material and if they work together, they can make this "the hottest team Bee Gee has ever had."

Coach Anderson is the only coach known to have taken two different teams at two different times to Madison Square Gardens. In 1941-42 he took his Toledo Cagers to Madison Square Gardens, where they reached the national semi-finals.

Last season it was the Falcons that Coach Anderson took to the national finals. During the season they won 22 games while losing three; once to Denison and twice to Great Lakes. The first year Andy coached here his team gained national fame when they won their first 11 games.

Coach Anderson, starting his twentieth year as a basketball coach, is an all around athlete. He started his career at Central High School in Akron, where he played on the basketball, football and track teams. He was voted an all-city end in football, all-city forward in basketball, and captain of the track team.

At Otterbein College in 1920, he carried on in sports with three letters in football, basketball, and baseball and two in track. Coach Anderson was elected an all-Ohio half back in football and forward in basketball.

The professionals hadn't overlooked "Andy," and the St. Louis Cardinals offered him a player's contract but he declined in favor of coaching at Wauseon High School where he led the team into the northwestern district championship.

Toledo Waite was Coach Anderson's next stop where he became head coach in basketball and track. Then he went to the University of Toledo. This was climaxed by a bid from the National Basketball Tournament at Madison Square Gardens in New York.

Falcons Point For First Game

Cage drills move in to the second week today as 35 prospective players work out daily in the men's gym in preparation for the season's basketball opener with the Lockbourne Air Base quintet here on December 4.

Head coach W. Harold Anderson and assistant coach George Muellich report that prospects for another successful season for the Falcons are high and they expect to floor a squad more formidable than the 1943 team that was edged in the National Intercollegiate Invitational Tournament in Madison Square Garden, New York City.

Joe Siegfert, captain of the '43-'44 team, Don "Sid" Otten, six foot eleven inch center, and Wyndol Gray, of the '42-'43 squad have returned and will form the nucleus of this year's Orange and Brown quintet. Coach Anderson also has a plentiful supply of new talent from which to pick the remainder of the squad. The final team of 20 members to represent the Falcons will be selected next week.

Have a Coca-Cola = So glad you're back

...or offering a soldier the comforts of home HOME! No place like it. And nobody knows it better than a fighting man back on furlough. Ice-cold Coca-Cola is one of the comforts of home that belongs in your family refrigerator. At the words "Have a 'Coke'", refreshment joins the party. The good old American custom of the pause that refreshes is spreading in many lands around the globe,—a symbol of our friendly home-ways.

Dance, Movie Are This Weekend

Friday? Well, I'll tell ya—it's going to be lotsa fun, cause the PIKA's are sponsoring a disc dance in the Rec Hall. Because they want to show no partiality they are having two Dorsey's, Sammy Kaye, Stan Kenton, Johnny Mercer, and a few others.

Jack McCabe is in charge of the arrangements which are being made for the dance. The dynamic event will durate from 7:30 to 9:30.

"The Pied Piper," that sensational cinematic presentation starring Monty Woolley, will be shown to our movie-minded public on Saturday evening, at 7:30 p.m., in the auditorium.

More Faculty Members Needed

Additional faculty members are needed in several departments, Dr. Frank J. Prout, University president, said today. "The manpower shortage is prevalent in the teaching field," he said, "and we are unable to hire as many instructors as we wish."

Two additions have been made in overloaded departments, however, to help ease the teaching load.

Mrs. Anthony Westerhof, wife of the new psychology professor, is to teach full time in the English department. Margaret Vesey, senior, will be an assistant in history.

Cincinnati Symphony Appears In Concert Here November 16

Cincinnati's symphony Orchestra will give a concert at the University, Thursday, November 16, in the Men's Gymnasium.

In the first musical program of the college year, the orchestra will be directed by Eugene Goossens, composer and conductor who has been with the orchestra for 11 years.

The Cincinnati Orchestra is one of the finest symphonic ensembles in the world. Prof. M. C. McEwen, head of the department of music, said today, "Bowling Green is fortunate to have the opportunity of hearing such an orchestra."

Although University students will be admitted by Activity Card, University officials expect such a large group of outsiders to attend the concert that they have scheduled it for the Men's Gymnasium where large concerts have been held in past years.

Last year's musical programs were presented by Negro tenor Roland Hayes and soprano Margaret Speaks. It has been several years since a large orchestra has played at the University.

General admission to the public is $1.80 ($1.50 plus 30c tax). Reserved seats are $2.40 ($2.00 plus 40 cents tax). Students may have reserved seats for 60 cents in addition to their activity cards (50 cents plus 10 per cent tax).

Bleachers will be erected for general admission and chairs on the main floor all will be reserved.

Tickets will be on sale at the cloak room just off the well in the Administration Building Monday, November 13, through Thursday noon, November 16. They will also be on sale at the Center Drug Store, corner Main and Wooster Sts., for the same period. Prof. Elden Smith will be in charge of all arrangements for tickets.

Six boys are wanted to assist (with pay) in arranging the Gymnasium floor on Thursday, November 16. They should see John Schwarz, chairman of the University entertainment committee, at once.

A preparatory lecture-recital on Wednesday, November 15, will be held in the recital hall of the Practical Arts Building at 8 p.m. Prof. M. C. McEwen will lecture on the music of the Cincinnati orchestra and Mr. Goossens, and some of the well-known symphony records will be played.

The public is invited to attend this lecture, which will lead to a more complete appreciation and understanding of Thursday night's concert, Professor McEwen said.

Speakers' Bureau Reorganizes

The purpose of the organization is to supply speeches, panel discussions, readings, plays and other programs to the surrounding communities; and to give experience to students in actual speaking situations.

Tryouts for the program for the month of December will be Tuesday, November 14, at 4:00 in Room 105 of the Administration Building. Those interested may also see Virginia Keller at the Radio Studio office any afternoon Monday through Friday between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Types of speeches wanted are: Book reviews, panel discussions, outstanding personal experiences—summer positions, famous people you've met, humorous or dramatic readings, play reviews, pertaining to field in which you are majoring, radio, speech correction, producing a play, and questions of present day interest.

Paper Revamps Distribution Plan

Distribution changes for the Bee Gee News began today, but will function even better in weeks to come. John Barber, business manager, said.

Only 200 off-campus students were to stop in the Well for their copies of the paper, thus ending the confusion caused in past years when the entire student body stood in line to get the News.

The off-campus students were mailed identification cards to facilitate rapid distribution. They will present these cards each Wednesday in order to receive their copies.

More Moores

Looking for Betty Jane Moore?

You are liable to get confused, since Bowling Green has two coeds by that name.

Betty II is a freshman from Akron and lives in the Women's Building. Since she's in Liberal Arts, the two don't have to worry about their professors getting confused.

Dean McFall Moves To New Offices

K. H. McFall, Dean of Freshman and director of the University News Bureau, has moved from offices shared with the Registrar directly across the hall to the room formerly occupied by the Marine detachment, which left the campus at the beginning of the fall term November 1.

YWCA has postponed the first meeting, "Bee Gee Success Course," from Nov. 16, to a later date which will be posted in the Well and in the Bee Gee News. The meeting has been postponed because the Cincinnati Symphony will be here that night.

Pat Barton will take over Betty Rosencrans' office as publicity chairman. Betty, a junior last year, was married during the summer to Lt. Fred Bunts and is now living in Oklahoma City.

Shatzel, Williams Halls Have Supervised Study

Supervised study halls have been started in the dining rooms of Shatzel and Williams Halls so that over-crowded dormitory conditions will not interfere with study.
